A family-owned group with a human touch

53 years ago, our founders chose to enter the electrical equipment business, with a clear vision that electricity would be the energy of the future. And when you think about it, at Sonepar, our business is at the very heart of the worldwide ongoing energy transition driving our electrical ecosystem.

2022 was an exceptional year for Sonepar. Our associates are driven by an outstanding desire to succeed, to build the future and to achieve excellent results. I would like to congratulate them for the impressive performance, which is the result of their proven talent, driving passion and, of course, hard work. I am extremely proud, and grateful to our family of shareholders, that Sonepar combines its human touch with our size and performance as a privately-owned group, sharing with associates our pride and long-term commitment.

The end of the year was marked by the death of the Group's founder, my father, Henri Coisne. As he often said: "What counts is what lasts". His entrepreneurial spirit meant long-term success as much as his inspiring values and exemplarity will continue to guide the Group into the future.

At Sonepar, we are all committed for lasting progress. We are Sonepar, Powered by Difference.

A vision of the future

In 2022, Sonepar achieved an outstanding performance. Not only are the financial results historic, but we also entered a new phase of our transformation in order to leverage more actively at a global scale, which will benefit our customers and provide new exciting challenges for our associates. This performance is all the more exceptional as it was achieved in a context of a highly disrupted supply chain, marked by the Covid crisis, but also of upheaval in the world order with the war in Ukraine, inflation and the energy crisis.

Our 44,000 associates work every day to ensure that Sonepar remains the undisputed world leader in its sector. Our teams have put in a great deal of work and we have continued to make progress in so many areas, including competitiveness, digital transformation and corporate social responsibility.

Sonepar aims to remain the leading B-to-B distributor of electrical products, solutions, and related services; serving customers with an omni-channel digital experience, promoting best-in-class sustainability, and ensuring associates a diverse and inclusive working environment with a unique purpose.
